Project Brief

Space for a growing family, was at the top of the list for this young family. The existing project home was no longer coping after the birth of the clients' 3rd child and their brief included a separate bedroom for each of their children, along with a guest bedroom. Increasing the living space was also a priority, as entertaining friends in a confined space had proven difficult.

The Result

The design provided 4 bedrooms upstairs, along with a large bathroom, while a TV/Rumpus room in the middle of the addition created space for the children to call their own. Each bedroom was fitted with wardrobes, and a large linen cupboard was positioned just outside the bathroom. With the bedrooms taken care of upstairs, and the existing main bedroom now re-named as the guest bedroom, the remainder of the existing ground floor space could be opened up to create the large living space the owner required.
