Project Brief

When originally buying this house, Natalie and Toby had in mind the idea of buying the worst house in the best street. They wanted a 'fixer upper' that had a solid structure and with a bit of help, could be turned into the house of their dreams.

The Result

When ascending the stairs into the first floor addition, you enter the lobby, which features a skylight that provides a stream of light filtering into the stairwell and down to the space below. With a high ceiling and clean lines, this space echoes the classically modern details that are seen throughout the rest of the house. The main bedroom, with luxurious ensuite and walk-in robe, opens out onto a balcony, which takes in uninterrupted ocean views, as does one of the three additional, very generously sized bedrooms that are also featured in this space. This first floor addition provides a tranquil and spacious escape for the family from the main living areas on the ground floor, with ocean views from every room.

Client Comments

'The whole Cape Cod crew were amazing and there was no compromise on quality, despite keeping to a very tight schedule.'
